

bigram, $n = 2$

Each window shares 1 token(s) with the next. That overlap is what stops a boundary from cutting an idea in half — and what you pay for twice.